

To whom it may concern,

Kalle Kaub worked as a cameraman/editor for BBC News and Current Affairs and I would not hesitate to recommend him. He often worked in difficult and dangerous locations including Afghanistan during the conflict there and in Macedonia during the Civil War.

He's a good cameraman and editor. He also often takes up a production role and is very flexible. Apart from his technical abilities, he's an amiable travelling companion with a good sense of humour.

I would be delighted to answer any questions which you may have.

Yours faithfully,

Jonathan Charles
